Privacy Statement

some information within this file has a Privacy Restriction placed upon it. Exact details of those people assumed to be living has been omitted for Privacy reasons. Only the names, genders, and family links of living individuals have been published. The birth date and status fields of these individuals will contain the word "Private" and all other fields will either be empty or omitted. This omission is based on the genealogical information entered into the Family Tree program this book has been created from.

Acknowledgements

While it would be difficult to thank all those who have contributed to this Family History there are a few people whose contribution is worth mentioning. A large part of the basis of my research came from information that was extracted by Alan Francis Carlill whilst in England during the 2nd World War, from the book "Collections for a History of the Ancient family of Carlisle" published in London in 1822. This is a book that I am looking forward to reading someday. Further research done by Gwentyth Burnett Carlill as also formed a part of the general information on Ann Burnett.

Introduction

I have been researching my family history for about 10 years but only since 1995 have I really been serious about it. I must thank all those other people (too many to name) that have helped in some way. As you research your family tree you usually find that you are not the only genealogist in the family. This is a great help as others may have done some of the work already, as has been my experience. A letter, phone call or a little searching on the Internet, can obtain years of research.

Australia is a country where the majority of the population consists of immigrants and their descendants. Convicts were sent to New South Wales between 1788 and 1842, to Tasmania between 1803 and 1848, Western Australia (men only) between 1850 and 1868, and Queensland from 1824 on.

Assisted immigrants had most of their passage paid by their government, and usually came from the British Isles and Germany. They arrived in New South Wales beginning in 1828, Victoria beginning in 1839, South Australia beginning in 1836, Queensland beginning in 1859, and the Northern Territories beginning in 1873. Unassisted immigrants could come anytime, although the various Gold Rushes in the different states were popular periods. People who came from locations other than the British Isles and Germany, such as China, the United States, and New Zealand, normally came unassisted.

This book details the story of one such unassisted immigrant, Thomas John Carlill. Thomas came to Australia in the 1840's, in what can be called the last of the pioneering days. At this stage the colony was still very young and there were many opportunities for enterprising pioneers. Thomas would live to raise 12 children and to see the Federation of Australia. With hard work Thomas prospered in his new home and was able to retire comfortably.

Thomas John Carlill was born 11 July 1822 in London, England, and died 6 January 1913 in Mosman, Sydney, NSW. He married Ann Burnett 9 July 1847 in St Alban's Church, Musswellbrook, NSW, daughter of Richard Burnett and Sarah Hichman. She was born 17 March 1831 in Maitland, NSW, and died 28 February 1911 in Mosman, Sydney, NSW.

After emigrating to Australia in the 1840's Thomas went on to become an important member of the Northern New South Wales communities of Casio & Lismore. Thomas and Ann raised a total of 12 children. A present count, there are over 400 descendants of Thomas and Ann.

Children of Thomas Carlill and Ann Burnett are:

- i. Daniel Dotchon⁹ Carlill, born 10 October 1848 in "Collaroy", NSW; died Aft. 1913.
- ii. Thomas John Carlill, born 25 May 1850 in Hunter River, NSW; died 27 November 1917 in Coraki, NSW.
- iii. Mathew William Carlill, born 5 May 1853 in Casino, NSW; died 1913 in Casino, NSW.
- iv. James Richard Carlill, born 13 March 1855 in Casino, NSW; died 4 April 1943 in Lidcome, NSW.
- v. Francis Alfred Carlill, born 12 July 1857 in Casino, NSW; died Aft. 1913.
- vi. Margaret Ann Carlill, born 16 December 1859 in Casino, NSW; died 1943 in Ashfield, NSW.
- vii. Fanny Elma Carlill, born 23 June 1862 in Casino, NSW; died 15 August 1938 in Mosman, NSW.
- viii. Leonard Fredrick Carlill, born 30 December 1864 in Casino, NSW; died 17 August 1933 in Ballina, NSW.
- ix. Benjamin Carlill, born 31 January 1869 in Casino, NSW; died 6 April 1945 in Lismore, NSW.
- x. Susan Jane Carlill, born 23 January 1871 in Casino, NSW; died 1943 in Mosman, NSW.
- xi. Mary Ellen Carlill, born 14 February 1873 in Casino, NSW; died 1901 in Sydney, NSW.
- xii. Ada Angelina Carlill, born 9 January 1877 in Casino, NSW; died Aft. 1945.

The following pages are a small glimpse into Thomas's life with the following reports:

Information on the Barque William Harris that Thomas sailed to Australia on A Family Group Sheet for Thomas and Ann
Thomas's Obituary as it appeared in the Northern Star
A Decendant Tree of Thomas & Ann

The most complete information on the late T.J Carlill was printed by the Northern Star in 1913 as an obituary.

The following notice amplifies the particulars published last week in the "Star" of the life of that grand old pioneer, Mr T.J Carlill, who passed away in his 92nd year at his residence 'Malton' Harbour Street, Mosman, last weeks. The Late Mr Carlill was (the second and) youngest son of Captain Peter Carlill of Whitby, Yorkshire (England), the descendant of an old Yorkshire seafaring family. Mr Carlill's grandfather on his mothers side, Captain Cole RN, was taken prisoner by the French and kept in France a number of years, but he managed to get back to England and fought in the Battle of Trafalgar, he lived to the age of 96 years. When a boy the late Mr Carlill was appointed to the merchant ship William Harris (commander Henry Terry), his first voyage being to Australia in the year 1836. The William Harris arrived in Sydney on 25/26 May 1836 having sailed from Calcutta on the 25 Febraury 1836 with a load of wheat. The William Harris made an earlier journey to Auastralia in 1835 and it unknown whether Thomas was aboard for this voyage

After some time at sea, visiting many parts of the world, he decided on the next trip to Australia to go on the land. Current research indicates that Thomas arrived in Australia to stay on 12 December 1837. Inpesction on crew lists in England is required to verify his last voyage on the William Harris as this type of record does not exist in Australia for this period. After a few years experience 'out back' and at the age of 25 he became station manager for Mr Edward Hamilton of Callaroy, where he lived for many years, and married his wife, who only entered 'the bourne from which no traveller returns' a short time ago. Mr Carlill managed the sheep stations and the late Mr G Spark was associated with Mr Hamilton as manager of the cattle Station.

Finding his stations on the Hunter not large enough, Mr Hamilton purchased 'Wooroowoolgen', which also carried the out-stations of 'Wyan Wyan', 'Tatham', and 'Gowan Gowan' now 'Ellangowan'. Thinking sheep would do well on those placed Mr Hamilton sent Mr Carlill up to prepare for the arrival of the flocks and to manage. Both he and Mrs Carlill came by sailing vessel in the year 1851. When they arrived on the Richmond there was but a small settlement at Blackwell, now Wardell, and dense scrub lined the banks until Coraki, the home of the Yabsley family, was reached. Another stretch then of bush until a few settlers were encountered at Pelican tree and then on to Tatham.

A thorough inspection of the land assured Mr Carlill that the country was not by any means suitable for sheep on account of wet seasons, foxtail grass and so on. He at once informed Mr Hamilton, and the sheep, which had been brought as far as Armidale were taken back to Hunter.

Mr Harry O'Brien of Bathurst, grandfather of Mr H O'Brien Wilson had found out that boiling the cattle down for tallow paid better than selling them at the then low price of the market. These boiling-down establishments came to the squatters as a boon, and on Mr Carlill's advice Mr Hamilton erected immense works at Tatham and Woram and he was put in charge of them.

The Bundock family, of Wyangerie, Irving of Tomki, and Campbell of Tunstall Station, who had condemned the breeding of sheep on the rivers, all followed the example set by boiling-down works. Mr Spark was sent up to manage Wooroowoolgen, and on his purchasing "Roseberry" station, the late Mr Donald Campbell was for many years in charge there.

Mr Carlill now entered into the timber trade, Cedar getting being most profitable in those days. In 1869 or 1870 he started a butchering business in Casino and was one of the first to build a substantial house. At that time there were only three houses in Casino. In 1876 he brought Mr John Grimes estate (Springrove), situated near Tomki station and added to it by selection till he had 5000 acres, rich in timber and natural grasses, for the fine herd of Herefords of undoubted quality he had gathered. This was where the only beef cattle were reared. The old gentleman was looked on as a wonderful judge of these beasts. In 1897 he sold "Springrove" and purchased "Maltron" 16 Harbour Street, Mosman, Sydney NSW where he resided since. Of wonderful vitality, this fine stamp of colonists hale and hearty almost to the last, passed peacefully away surrounded by many members of his family, failure of the hearts actions closing the life of one of whom none could speak but good."

The Barque William Harris

The barque William Harris was a large three masted sailing ship with a tonnage of 342t that carried both merchandise and passengers. She was built in Whitby, Yorkshire England in 1816 and was owned by Barry & Co. Her home port was Whitby but in the period of interest sailed from London commanded by Henry Terry. In 1834 she underwent large repairs and had a new deck made from Cedar fitted. Until these repairs she was classified as a A class vessel. This is the First description of First class. After the repairs the William Harris was classified as Æ which is the Second description of First class. In 1838 and in 1840 she underwent further repairs and still retained the Æ classification.

Voyages of the William Harris

During the period of interest (1835-1840) when Thomas Carlill was a possible crew member of this vessel it made the following voyages.

Departure Location/ Date	Destination	Arrival Date	Cargo
London 27 March 1835	Australia	August 11 1835	merchandise and passengers
Australia 25 October 1835	Calcutta		wheat
Calcutta 25 February 1836	Australia	25/26 May 1836
Australia 16/17 October 1836	London		colonial produce
London 20 July 1837	Australia	12 December 1837	merchandise and passengers
London 1 May 1840	Australia	28 September 1840	merchandise
Australia 23 November 1840	Gaum

There is a period from late 1838 until May 1840 which is unaccounted for, the ship may have plied other routes or have been layed up.

Casino & District

Casino is situated in the Northern Rivers area on the Far North Coast of New South Wales. The present population is 11,800 most of whom live in the town of Casino which straddles the Richmond River. The town lies 744 km by road north of Sydney and 225 km south of Brisbane, and is located approximately 60 kms from the coast.

The towns and villages in the Richmond River Valley in Northern New South Wales offer a rich diversity of experiences. From the rolling hinterland hills, with views of World Heritage listed national parks to the views of the Pacific Ocean.

The first pioneers trekked overland from the Clarence River district in search of the 'red gold' or cedar trees. Dairying dominated the early farming of the shire but today much of the land has been turned over to raising beef cattle.
